

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law protections. These types of calls are getting more numerous all the time and interrupt a person's home life. People pay for their phone for personnel use and should not be disturbed by unwanted calls.